JOHN P. BARNES, EDITOR AND MANAGER.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1896.

Clouds usually mean the coming rain, but the clouds that now lower over Turkey means that our reign is nearly over.

Encouraging reports of a revival in the surgery business are coming in from all over the country. The football season has begun.

The storm on the South Atlantic coast this week was one of unusual severity. Great damage was done and many lives were lost on the coast of Georgia.

It looks as though the 60-cent Democratic vote will poll about 60 per cent. of their usual vote. There's nothing like keeping in harmony with the circumstances of the case.

A man who labors under the delusion that the price of any article or commodity can be fixed and maintained by governmental decree is not a safe man to intrust with power.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston is going to visit Baltimore. This famous company conquered Europe and has glory enough for one year. It should be satisfied to remain in Boston this fall.

The genial Dr. Depew will talk on almost any subject, but he draws the line upon the report that he will soon marry his ward, Miss Collins. He does not deny the soft impeachment, however.

Senator Teller is discouraged at the outlook for Bryan and free silver. He is preparing to weep on the night of November 3 over the downfall of the mine owners' cause. Senator Teller made the mistake of his life at St. Louis.

Oh! these delightfully ingenious Popocrats. They now affirm that Tom Reed piled up that colossal majority in Maine to "humiliate McKinley." How overburdened the Major will be in November—with the same kind of "humiliation."

John Boyd Thatcher, the Democratic candidate for Governor of New York, says he is against free silver, and therefore intends to support Bryan. If Bill Nye were alive, he would diagnose Thatcher's case as a bad instance of scrambled brains.

A poll of 800 Methodist ministers in Ohio did not reveal one who favored the Chicago platform or the election of Bryan. Some of the number are lifelong Democrats, and will not with the party again when the coin debaters are shaken out of it.

"We want no debased dollars any more than we want debased labor, and when men have given a full day's work to an American employer, we want that American employer to pay in dollars just as good as any dollars anywhere in the world, and worth one hundred cents every day and everywhere."—[McKinley.]

The Republican State Convention in Massachusetts on Thursday was in striking contrast to the Geo. Fred Williams silver convention held there a few days earlier. The Republican Convention was dignified and harmonious. The nominees of the convention, Gov. Wolcott, will be elected by the largest majority ever given any Governor in that State.

Four weeks from next Tuesday is the day of the election. A great victory is in sight for that occasion. It cannot be too great. If Bryan could be buried beneath such an avalanche of votes as overwhelmed Scott in 1852 or Greeley in 1872, it would be well for the land. Popocracy has done the country harm enough this year. Show that there is no chance for it in any future year by the majorities against it this year.

The tariff is a kind of suspended issue at present, but there is some interest attached, nevertheless, to certain statistics just furnished by the United States Consul at Bradford, England, which show that the amount of woolen goods shipped from that place to this country during eleven months under the Wilson law was $34,454 pounds, whereas during the corresponding period under the McKinley law it was only 5,103 pounds.

Blaine and Free Silver.

The advocates of free coinage of silver have tried hard to make it appear that the late James G. Blaine was in favor of such a measure. On February 7, 1878, in the Senate of the United States, Mr. Blaine, speaking on the proposition to open the mine of this Nation to the free and unlimited coinage of silver, used the following earnest language:

At current rates of silver, the free coinage of a dollar, containing 412½ cents, worth in gold about 62 cents, gives an illegitimate profit to the owner of the bullion, enabling him to take 92 cents' worth of it to the mint and get it stamped as coin and force his neighbor to take it for a full dollar. This is an undue, an unfair advantage which the Government has no right to give the owners of silver bullion, and which defrauds the man who is forced to take the dollar.

If free coinage was a fraud in 1878, when the bullion in a silver dollar was worth 92 cents, what would James G. Blaine say if he were living today, when the silver mine owners of this country are asking their fellow citizens to adopt a system which will stamp as a dollar but 63 cents' worth of silver and accept that dollar as wages for their labor?

The alarm from box 4 at 1 o'clock yesterday was for a slight fire on Town court. The flames were extinguished with slight damage to the property.

Silver's Worst Victims.

There are three large classes of people in this country, says the Century, who have special reason to dread the substitution of silver for gold as our standard of value. We mean of course, silver at the ratio of 16 to 1; that is, 16 ounces of silver equivalent to 1 ounce of gold. This is an artificial ratio, for in the markets of the world at this time of writing 1 ounce of gold sells for as much as 39 ounces of silver, so that the real ratio is 39 to 1. To declare by law that a silver dollar on this basis shall be equivalent to a gold dollar is to seek by legislative fiat to make 63 cents worth 100 cents. Repeated efforts to do this during the past four hundred years to effect miracles of this kind justify the unequivocal assertion that this attempt, if made, will be a failure. The certain results will be the disappearance of gold from circulation, its rise to a premium of nearly 200 per cent. The doubling in price of nearly all commodities and of rents, a slight but tardy rise in wages, and the practical destruction of one half of all savings-bank deposits, life-insurance policies, and pensions.

Let us see what the extent of the loss in these three last-named categories would be. There are in the United States about 5,000,000 depositors in savings-banks. Their aggregate deposits are estimated by the best authorities at $1,500,000,000, a sum fully equal to the entire stock of money in the country. These deposits are not made payable only in gold. If we were to pass a silver standard, to a dollar worth only 63 cents which would be a legal tender for all debts, there $1,500,000,000 would shrink to $954,000,000. Who would lose the other $546,000,000? Would they be capitalists money-lenders, rich bankers, and millionaires? Not a bit of it. They would be the hard-working heads of families, devoted fathers and mothers saving for their children and their old age, widows and orphans, and deserving and anxious youth seeking to lay the foundation for a better life for themselves and their families. There would be no loss for them from this change, which in many instances could turn a life of simple comfort into one of want and misery. We have here a single class of 5,000,000 persons who have the best of reasons for looking upon gold as the true money of the people.

Yet these do not greatly exceed the holders and beneficiaries of life insurance policies. There are in this country about 3,800,000 holders of life insurance policies and certificates amounting in goes to $4,000,000,000, a sum nearly six times the entire amount of money in the country. These holders have been paying their premiums for years in gold or its equivalent, expecting to have it paid back to their families after their death, or on their policies becoming due. The policies are not payable in gold alone. The companies and associations did not agree to pay them in that coin only. The average annual payments for claims is $120,000,000, so that if we pass a 63-cent dollar this will be cut down to $76,800,000, and the annual loss to the widows and orphans of the land through this source will be $43,200,000. In this case, also, the loss will not fall upon the helpless, and will be robbery of the most deserving of all our citizens, for the man who insures his life for the benefit of those who are dependent upon him must be a worthy citizen. This is another class who have excellent reasons for looking upon gold as the true money of the people.

Finally, there is our army of 970,000 pensioners, drawing annually from the national treasury $140,000,000. Their pensions are not payable in gold alone, and would be paid in silver. Their annual receipt would drop from $140,000,000 to $89,600,000, and the other $50,400,000 would not come out of the pockets of the rich, but of the poor veterans of the war, who have been given this aid because they are supposed to have deserved well of their nation and are not able to support themselves. And a greater part of the persons affected in this case are veterans, it is interesting to see how they are distributed in the country, and how the loss will fall upon the different States. In Ohio there are 165,100 of them, and their total loss would be $7,779,000. In Illinois there are 68,073 of them, and their loss would be nearly $3,800,000. In Indiana there are 69,850 of them, and their loss would be over $3,600,000. Carefully this is an aspect of free coinage which rises above partisanship, for, as the late Congressman Harter of Ohio said of it, the nation's good faith to its living soldiers is not only called in question by it, but it becomes a law the widows and orphans of the nation's dead will be robbed by the laws of a third class, the men who have excellent reasons for looking upon gold as the true money of the people.

And what is to be said of the great body of American people outside these three classes? Are they prepared to say they think such robbery as this would be is a desirable thing for a great and rich and free people to do to themselves? Do they believe for a moment that they are capable of such inhumanity and injustice? They have only to comprehend fully the nature of the proposition to condemn it under overwhelming defeat.

New Pullman Service to Texas, Mexico and the Pacific Coast.

Commencing October 1st, the Southern Railway "Piedmont Air Line" will inaugurate a new Pullman Buffet Sleeping Car Line, with New York, Birmingham, Alabama, and Washington, Ga. The line will connect at New Orleans with the trains of the Southern Pacific R. R. carrying Pullman Buffet Sleeping Cars, New Orleans to San Francisco and City of Mexico. The new sleeping car service will be operated on the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York 12:15 mid night, and Washington D. C. 11:15 a. m. The famous Washington and Southwestern Vailbuled Limited connects to leave New York daily at 4:30 p. m., carrying Dining Car and Pullman Drawing Room Sleeping Car, New York to New Orleans, Memphis, Tampa, and Hot Springs, N. C. For further information call or address, General Eastern Office 211 Broadway.

Real Estate Sales and Rentals.

Whipple & Son have rented for Mrs. Hazard Red Parker avenue cottage, to Mr. E. M. K. Twombly, for the season of 1897.

Charles E. Butler, trustee under the will of J. Prescott Hall and Harriet D. W. Hall, has sold to Henry Bodlow, Harriet Hall Morris and Alice Bodlow Mayer, the estate known as "Malbone." The sale is simply in conformity with the will of the testator.

The Greatest Danger.

The greatest danger in the present political situation is not free silver. That is serious enough of itself to justify all cautious and patriotic citizens in voting against the party which is advocating the adoption of such a policy; but, as the St. Louis Globe-Democrat truthfully says, it does not by any means represent the worst that is likely to happen in the event of Bryan's election. The elements that he represents will not be satisfied with the debasement of the currency; the platform on which he is running is not confined to that one thing as a remedy for the alleged evils and misfortunes of the times. He is the leader of a movement that involves infinite possibilities of mischief. Whatever his personal motives and purposes may be, he is not superior to the forces behind him, and can not expect to control them. They are nothing if not revolutionary. The split by which they are actuated is one of general hostility existing to mobs and institutions. They are aware of wild who want to reap the whirlwind. It is easy to see that free silver is only a symptom, and that the real disease lies deeper and includes far more serious conditions than those which relate strictly to the currency.

We are accustomed to think that such an occurrence as the French Revolution is impossible in our country. This may be true, and yet there are certain traits and qualities of human nature which are never entirely subdued by civilization, and which are the same in all countries. We have passed safely through several severe tests of our ability to avert social and political combustion, but we have never, before had just such a situation as the present one to face. A great party is seeking control of the Government by appeals to prejudice and passion, to mercenary and insurrectionary instincts. It aims to array classes against one another in a violent way, and to substitute emotion and excitement for intelligent and temperate discussion. Possibly our comfortable theory that political explosives are comparatively harmless when permitted to have free action and that the influence of reason and patriotism are a sufficient protection against anarchy, is correct, but at the same time, there is some room for doubt and it is best not to be too certain where there is so much at stake.

The part of wisdom is to look at the matter soberly, and with a due sense of the obligation that rests upon all good citizens to see that stolid and destructive forces do not gain ascendancy in our affairs.

Extravagant Expenditures.

The extravagant manner in which the state's money has been expended during the last three years is shown by the amounts that have been paid for objects outside the regular expenses of the state. [These figures are taken from the report of the committee appointed to consider the means of raising funds to pay the bills:]

Armories and camp grounds	$29,531.33
New Court House	19,281.62
New Criminal Court Building	28,261.12
Institute for the Deaf, blind, etc.	65,951.28
Plans and expenses for new state house	11,342.22
State previous to the issue of bonds	11,917.98
Revising and publishing General Laws	54,137.11
New buildings at Soldiers' Home	42,419.98
Training the cadets of the State	42,419.98
State House and school dormitory	7,109.38
Making new experimental points	15,741.56
Rebuilding at Stock Island	9,433.75
Rebuilding the Red bridge	40,000.00
Settling claims of Brown University	42,000.00
Addition to Providence County Jail	6,091.72
Bornholm at Agricultural College	53,109.00
New buildings at Soldiers' Home	7,857.62
Expense of new State House	28,261.12
Van Expedition	45,451.43

These expenditures amount to $1,135,012.95; besides these there have been special appropriations amounting to the aggregate to quite a considerable sum, which must be classed as extravagant.

It is estimated that the new Normal school building now being erected in Providence will cost the state $300,000, and that the new State House will cost at least $5,000,000. The annual delinquency is now something over $90,000.

McKinley's Campaign Song.

Rebounding loud like thunder roar,
From east to west, from land to sea,
From north to south, we evermore
Shout by McKinley's lead,
And he will be our freedom's friend,
And he will be our freedom's friend,
And he will be our freedom's friend,
And he will be our freedom's friend.

McKinley and protection,
Lurrah, lurrah, lurrah!
Will carry the election,
Lurrah, lurrah, lurrah!
And victory will be his,
Lurrah, lurrah, lurrah!
That we'll get work and wages,
Lurrah, lurrah, lurrah!
When recently distress and care,<
Upon the nation's face,
And people struggling with despair,<
In vain for changes long'd,
And victory will be his,
Lurrah, lurrah, lurrah!

But now our hearts are full of cheer,<
And joyfully we sing,
Because we know our days are near,
That work and wages bring;
When comes to naught,
What evil wrought,
And laws begotten wrong,
Will from the statutes go.—Chorus.

We wave McKinley banners high,
At happy times we greet;
Proclaiming to the battle line,
And free trade we'll defeat,
That right alone,
To make it strong,
We march with head and hand,
All work in freedom a land.—Chorus.

ALL FOR WILLIAMS

Three Conventions Kept Boston in a Turmoil.

Hay State Republicans Nominates Wolcott and Crane, and Endorse St. Louis Republican Platform.

Boston, Sept. 28.—Unique and picturesque as have been scores of notable political contests in this city since the advent of the politician, none have ever approached or even compared with that which, Friday night and Saturday morning, wrought up the entire community to its wildest pitch of excitement, when the two principal factions of the Democracy of this state tested their strength and used all their ingenuity to get control of the state convention, for the purpose of dictating its policy and nominating its candidates, and never has there been such anomalous results as was shown at the close of the day, when three conventions, held in different sections of the city, nominated the same man for the head of the state ticket, and that man George Fred Williams.

GEORGE FRED WILLIAMS.
The following ticket was nominated:
For Governor, George Fred Williams of Dedham.
For lieutenant governor, C. T. Callahan of Holyoke.
For secretary of state, Joseph H. Potts of Lynn.
For attorney general, J. B. O'Donnell of Northampton.
For treasurer and recorder general, Thomas A. Watson of Braintree.
For auditor, Morris B. Cavanaugh of Springfield.

WOLCOTT AND CRANE
Head the Ticket Put in the Field by Hay State Republicans.

Boston, Oct. 1.—The Republicans of Massachusetts, in convention assembled, today nominated the following candidates for state officers to be voted for in the November election:

ROGER WOLCOTT.
Governor—Roger Wolcott of Boston.
Lieutenant governor—W. Murray Crane of Dalton.
Secretary of state—William M. Olin of Boston.
Treasurer and receiver general—General E. P. Shaw of Newburyport.
Auditor—John W. Kimball of Fitchburg.
Attorney general—Hosea M. Knowlton of New Bedford.
The complete electoral ticket nominated is: At large, Hon. J. Q. A. Brackett and Hon. W. H. Hall.
By districts—Franklin Carter of Wilmamstown, First; A. H. Condit of Athol, Second; A. T. Whitin of Northbridge, Third; C. H. Moulton of Waltham, Fourth; Joseph Miller of Lowell, Fifth; Sylvanus Smith of Gloucester, Sixth; E. W. McCrux of Lynn, Seventh; R. O. Fuller of Cambridge, Eighth; Peter McKelvey of Boston, Ninth; J. C. Cobb of Milton, Tenth; W. H. Powers of Hyde Park, Eleventh; H. A. Thomas of Weymouth, Twelfth; Edmund Anthony of Fairhaven, Thirteenth.

There is nothing exciting or sensational in the resolutions. They declare for sound money; for the enactment of tariff laws which will provide revenue adequate to meet the expenditures of the government, protect American industries and preserve the home market for our own people; endorse the laws restricting immigration, and ask for further legislation to exclude all people who cannot read and write the English language, or their own language; oppose appropriations for sectarian purposes, and insist that this policy shall be applied with exacting impartiality; declare that in granting public franchises the legislature shall subject them to a rigid scrutiny; denounce the Chicago platform, the silver agitation, and "the voice of sectionalism resuscitated from the tomb, where we suppose it lay buried forever."

Suicide in Police Station.
Boston, Sept. 30.—James Perkins, 42 years old, was arrested in Roxbury, yesterday, on the charge of drunkenness. He was locked up in station 10. About 8 o'clock last night the watchman discovered him hanging by the neck to the bars of his cell. He was dead when cut down.

Tragedy Near Springfield.
Springfield, Mass., Oct. 1.—A Poleander at Indian Orchard, a suburb of this city, attempted to kill his wife by kicking and beating her, about midnight last night. He then shot himself with probably fatal results.

The Decline of the Jaw.
And now it is claimed that the jawbones of civilized peoples are gradually becoming attenuated, chiefly owing to the prolonged use of knives and forks. There need be no fear, however, that we will lose the use of the jaws. The habit of chewing gum will soon restore these portions of our anatomy to their pristine strength.

SUSAN COGGESHALL.

Northampton, Mass., Sept. 23.—A stabbing affray occurred on Pleasant street last night, which will probably result in murder. Adam Pell, a Folsom, is in a hospital, with two wounds in his breast and arm, and will undoubtedly die. Pell met Charles Gregorski and a companion, both of whom were intoxicated, and a wrangle ensued, in which Gregorski stabbed Pell several times. Gregorski was arrested while attempting to escape. Pell identified Gregorski as his assailant.

Former Sentenced.

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 20.—Frank H. Poor pleaded guilty in the superior court yesterday to the charge of forgery on two counts. Poor stole the bankbook of his grandfather, Lewis Trainor, an aged resident of North Salem, N. H., and forged two orders, covering the amount in the bank. The court sentenced him to not less than 2½ years and not more than four years in state prison.

Wounded Burglar May Die.

Farmington, Me., Oct. 1.—Deputy Sheriff Blake, who has been in pursuit of the New Sharon robbers, has returned with the horse and team stolen from Charles Gage, which was found in a pasture four miles this side of Augusta. Ross, the wounded burglar, is suffering from a high fever, and the chances of recovery are against him. There is no trace of the second robber.

Jumped to Her Death.

Boston, Oct. 1.—An unknown woman jumped from the third story of the Hampden House last night, and was instantly killed. She was apparently about 30 years of age, and had entered the house with a man by the name of Charles Burgess, the couple being registered as man and wife. Burgess had left some time before the woman jumped from the window.

Boston Has Nearly 100,000 Voters.

Boston, Oct. 1.—Registration under the new law, which completely wiped out the old voting list, and compelled entirely new registration, closed last night, with 95,823 names on the voting list. There may be other additions when the outlying districts make a final report. This is the largest number ever on the voting list in this city.

Dissatisfied Weavers.

Ware, Mass., Sept. 30.—The Otis mills started up on full time, with a reduction in wages. Two hundred and fifty weavers in mill No. 4 refused to accept the reduction, and left the mill yesterday afternoon, 123 looms continued running, and there is no organized strike.

Killed by His Own Gun.

Williamstown, Mass., Sept. 23.—B. F. Moon, 35 years old, while hunting in the woods west of this town, yesterday, was shot and instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his gun, the full charge entering his abdomen.

Whitney-Randolph Nuptials.

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 29.—Ex-Secretary William C. Whitney was married here today at noon, to Mrs. Edith S. Randolph. Both are now staying at the Hotel Melvior.

Receivers Asked For.

Providence, Sept. 30.—A petition was filed in the supreme court yesterday for the winding up of two insurance companies, the Citizens' and the Security Mutual. Both companies have been doing a fire insurance business. The petition asks for the appointment of a receiver for both companies.

Injured Keeper and Escaped.

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 2.—Patrick Kelleher of Hartford, an inmate of the insane hospital in this city, assaulted keeper Brown in the barn yesterday, inflicting severe scalp wounds and disabling him with a stake from a farm wagon. Kelleher escaped. Kelleher was considered harmless.

Steamboat Company Closes Out.

Providence, Sept. 30.—The stockholders of the Providence and Stonington Steamboat company voted yesterday to wind up the affairs of the company, and all the properties were transferred to President Clark of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Bobbitt Works Insolvent.

Newport, Vt., Oct. 2.—The Union bobbin works, employing 150 men and boys, has been forced into insolvency. All the help are out of work, but they expect that if the factory passes into other hands, it will start up again.

LAST OF THE SEASON.

Review of the Year as Reported in Weather-Crop Bulletins.

Boston, Sept. 28.—There has been a moderate amount of rain in New England during the week ending Sept. 28, with light frosts in southern, and killing frosts in parts of northern districts. The harvesting of cranberries, potatoes, and apples is going on, but most crops are well gathered. Pastures are fresh, and stock will come to the barn in unusually good condition. Grass fields are very green and good. The ground is generally well filled with water.

The crop reports for the season of 1896 show that the cold snaps of Jan. 4 to 8, and Feb. 17 and 18, killed practically all the peach buds in New England, many of the buds on plum trees, some raspberry canes, and damaged clover fields to a moderate extent. April, and the first part of May gave damaging conditions of drought; pastures and grass fields suffered, and field crops came up slowly and unevenly. Considerable replanting was necessary on many farms. On old and dry lots the grass turned brown, and dried so it did not recover for this year's crop. The latter part of May, and beginning of June, gave abundant rain for crop needs, and pastures and low fields began to gain to a marked extent in most districts. For the remainder of the season the weather conditions were unfavorable for other crops, and a good growth resulted. Most correspondents say they have nothing to complain of in quantity and quality of crops. Little damage has been done by local storms during the season, and there have been few hailstorms.

"STONE OF SCONE."

The Enterprising Schoolboy Who Slept In the Coronation Chair.

It is a long walk from the dining room of the Westminster school to the coronation chair, which stands behind the old stone screen just back of the altar in the abbey, but there is an interesting connection between the two. This chair, as is well known, is a rude, heavy oak chair, much worn by time. It contains the "Stone of Scone" and was made by the order of Edward I in 1297, and every English sovereign since then has sat in it to be crowned.

A stout railing in front of the chair restrains the crowd of visitors from coming near, but if they were allowed to examine it as closely as I was fortunate enough to do they would find out boldly into the solid oak seat in such sprawling letters as the schoolboy's knife makes upon his desk, "P. Abbott slept in this chair Jan. 4, 1891." P. Abbott, it seems, was a Westminster schoolboy, and a tradition, which there is every reason to believe is true, tells that he made a wager with a schoolmate that he dare stay in the abbey all night alone.

In order to win his wager he hid in some corner of the old building until the doors were locked for the night and thus was left alone there. Fearing, however, that when morning came the boy with whom he had made the bet would disbelieve his statement that he had won it, he determined to have some proof of the fact, and so spent the hours of the early morning in carving on the coronation chair the sentence which, even now, nearly a century after, bears witness for him. It is disappointing that the tradition does not record just what form and amount of punishment was visited upon the lad for his escapade, and that history does not tell us of his later years. I wonder whether the courage and grit which this deed manifested foretold an energetic, successful life or was dissipated in mere bravado. —Max Bennett-Thresher in St. Nicholas.
